

Supplemental Figure B. Dotplot matrices of intragenomic nucleotide comparisons of five mollicute genomes and four other genomes that are known to have a high degree of repetitive elements. Each dot represents a match between the vertical and horizontal sequences, which are the same in this case.