

Supplementary Figures 15: Density plot of the number of accessible elements around regulatory genes or other genes ( $\pm 50$ kb). We calculated the number of accessible elements located within  $\pm 50$  Kb of the TSS of each gene, and found that genomic regions adjacent to regulatory genes contain more accessible elements than regions adjacent to other genes do (median 22 versus 28).