

Supplemental Fig. S6. Comparison between the excess of structural divergence and asymmetry strength. The x-axis represents increasing bins of asymmetry strength. Each subplot shows the comparisons made using different thresholds for the difference in percentage of sequence identity (pident).